Family of 26-Year-Old Who Died 13 Days After AstraZeneca Shot Weighs Legal Action

A final hearing began today in the investigation into the death of a 26-year-old man who died last year from "catastrophic" blood clots in his brain 13 days after receiving the AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine.

The family of Jack Hurn hopes the inquest will answer questions about the circumstances of Hurn's death — including why healthcare providers declined Hurn's request for a Pfizer vaccine instead of the AstraZeneca shot, which is associated with blood clots in individuals under age 30.

During today's hearing, Hurn's girlfriend, Alex Jones, told investigators healthcare officials did not warn her and her boyfriend of the vaccine's risks.

Jones was with Hurn when he got the first dose of the vaccine on May 29, 2021, at a vaccine center in Dudley, England. She also got the vaccine but was not injured.

Coroners in England and Wales must hold inquests in cases where deaths are sudden, unexplained or could have resulted from medical errors or negligence.

Hurn's family retained Michael Portman-Hann, an associate solicitor with the Midlands law firm of FBC Manby Bowdler and a specialist in medical malpractice, to represent them in the event they choose to take legal action.

A spokesperson for Portman-Hann's law firm told the Daily Mail, "The family are looking at a clinical negligence claim but are waiting for the results of the inquest to decide on next steps."

The final hearing is expected to last three days.

Hurn began experiencing headaches shortly after getting the vaccine, Portman-Hann said. When the headaches became more severe, Hurn was admitted to the Alexandra Hospital in Redditch, England, where a brain scan revealed a clot.

"Jack's family found it very difficult to get up-to-date information from hospital staff over the course of a number of days," Portman-Hann said. "They say there was confusion about whether Jack had actually suffered a stroke while at Redditch and could get no clear answers about his condition."

Hurn was transferred to the Queen Elizabeth hospital in Birmingham, where scans revealed "catastrophic" bleeds in the brain that contributed directly to his death.

Prior to being vaccinated, Hurn and Jones, voiced concerns about the AstraZeneca vaccine and requested an alternative, according to Portman-Hann.

Staff at the vaccine center allegedly told them the Pfizer vaccine was not available and assured them the AstraZeneca jab was safe, Portman-Hann said.

European regulators on April 7, 2021, announced they'd found a "possible link" between the AstraZeneca vaccine and "very rare" blood clots, but concluded the benefits of the vaccine still outweigh the risks.

The announcement came after the European Medicines Agency (EMA) reviewed 62 reported cases of cerebral venous sinus thrombosis and 24 cases of splanchnic vein thrombosis in the EU drug safety database (EudraVigilance) as of March 22, 2021. Eighteen of the cases were fatal.

The EMA and the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) did not initially recommend any age restrictions on the vaccine, although the MHRA warned of a "slightly higher incidence in the younger adult age groups."

MHRA regulators advised that the "evolving evidence should be taken into account when considering the use of the vaccine."

The U.K.'s Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation (JCVI), also on April 7, 2021, acknowledged reports of an "extremely rare" adverse event of concurrent thrombosis (blood clots) and thrombocytopenia (low platelet count) following vaccination with the first dose of the AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine.

The JCVI said, "The available data do suggest there may be a trend for increasing incidence of this adverse event with decreasing age, with a slightly higher incidence reported in the younger adult age groups."

These concerns led Jonathan Van-Tam, England's then-deputy chief medical officer, to recommend individuals under age 30 in the U.K. be offered an alternative to the AstraZeneca jab, provided one was available and it did not cause a substantial delay.

The JCVI on May 7, 2021, updated its guidance advising against the AstraZeneca vaccine for individuals under age 40.

Despite these well-publicized warnings and recommendations, staff at the vaccine center dismissed Hurn's concerns and administered the AstraZeneca vaccine to Hurn and his girlfriend Alex Jones.

Following the April 7, 2021, warnings by U.K. and EU public health officials, the U.K.'s Expert Haematology Panel for the diagnosis and management of vaccine-induced thrombosis and thrombocytopenia (VITT) made several recommendations for treating individuals who developed the condition.

The recommendations included urgent use of intravenous immunoglobulin, avoiding platelet transfusions and anticoagulating only with non-heparin-based therapies.

Healthcare officials are required to report probable cases of VITT to the panel and to Public Health England.

"Given the family's concerns over advice given during the vaccine clinic visit and what happened in the period between Jack being admitted to hospital and his death, we are supporting them to find answers which we're hopeful an inquest will help provide," Portman-Hann explained.

Following the inquest, the coroner may write a report if the evidence suggests further avoidable deaths could occur and, in the coroner's opinion, preventative action should be taken.

The coroner will send the report to the person or authority that has the power to take the appropriate steps to reduce the risk. A reply will be due within 56 days.

It's Time to Follow the Science. Join our Campaign!

The coroner's report is published online so members of the public will have access.

An inquest is held in public and is a formal process. Unlike a criminal court case, there is no prosecution and defense. However, findings at the inquest can lead to malpractice lawsuits.

Hurn graduated from Coventry University, where he was an honors student in the field of automotive design. He and Jones had recently purchased a home and he planned to propose to her last summer.

"Jack's parents, Tracey and Peter, his sister, Abby, Alex and both their families are completely devastated and are still trying to come to terms with what happened," Portman-Hann said.

The Defender has reported on other deaths related to the AstraZeneca vaccine, including Kim Lockwood, a 34-year-old mother from South Yorkshire, who died in March 2021, of a catastrophic brain bleed nine days after getting the AstraZeneca vaccine, and Tom Dudley, a 31-year-old father of two who died May 14, 2021, of a vaccine-induced brain hemorrhage after getting the AstraZeneca shot on April 27, 2021.

In August 2021, a coroner concluded Lisa Shaw, 44, died from VITT about three weeks after her first dose of the AstraZeneca vaccine.

The AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine was co-developed by the Jenner Institute and the Oxford Vaccine Group at the University of Oxford in the U.K.

Because the vaccine is manufactured in the U.K., is less expensive and easier to store and transport than the Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna vaccines, and is approved in the EU and U.K., it is the most widely available.

In the U.K., patients cannot generally choose which COVID-19 vaccine they will receive.

The AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine is not authorized for use in the U.S.

Studies link AstraZeneca and all three COVID-19 vaccines authorized in the U.S. to blood-clotting disorders.

If a thousand people have the flu, it's called a pandemic. If a thousand people die from treatment, they call it a rare side effect found in only 1 percent of the population.

As a side note, I really commend the reporters on this site for their objective reporting throughout the covid mess. It's a sign of your integrity and genuine professionalism. I can barely stand to read articles about the tragedies and the graft and corruption wrought by the healthcare/pharma cartel. And you all are in the trenches, slogging it out, still reporting, still being objective professionals. You probably won't get recognition from the mainstream media or be nominated for journalism awards, but we all see you and thank you.

All of the jabs cause blood clots. I cannot wait until the fraud case is complete against these murderers and they all go to prison!! These clots are NOT rare. What about EXPERIMENTAL do these people not understand???

You do realize that the new test out there is for HIV. They want to test as many as "they" are able to. The vaccine and VAIDS.

Sakura Tanaka → Nothingsound • 6 hours ago
Yes, but "experts" now also claims that there is no such thing as "vaccine-acquired immunodeficiency syndrome" or "VAIDS", that's a "mad up thing" but in reality doesn't exist. They reason that "vaccine don't deplete any immune cells, in fact, vaccines stimulate immune cells to be activated, divide and produce molecules like antibodies and soluble factors to recognize a pathogen and rid the body of it."
Perhaps so, I would say. That might be all true for vaccines. Except, these experimental "covid-vaccines" AREN'T vaccines at all, they are gene-therapies!!!
So, I would ask the experts; what about GENE-THERAPIES? could gene-therapies cause "vaccine-acquired immunodeficiency syndrome" or "VAIDS"??? or maybe the question should be corrected and stated in a different way, because we are not talking about VACCINES;
Let's try again with the correct wordings: could gene-therapies cause "gene-therapy-acquired immunodeficiency syndrome" or "GEAIDS"??? or maybe the question should be corrected and stated in a different way, because we are not talking about VACCINES??? (let's change the "V" that stands for vaccine, into a GE, which stands for gene-therapy!
Tthe outcome of some sort of Aids, or some sort of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome part is factual, always was. What made the statement previously incorrect (and the experts right), was the use of the wrong word; "vaccine". Vaccines might not cause any sort of Aids (according to experts), but gene-therapy might does. Could the same experts (defenders of vaccines), also swear on these new gene-therapies that are harmless? that they don't induce Aids???? I did not think so!

its very difficult even now to explain to young people the dangers...some are willing to listen and some have absolute trust in the authorities and when you start to point out descrepencies its as if there is a veil, they are nodding and agreeing that it is wise to look into it but I see in their eyes that they don't take it seriously, like it only happens to one in a million, like its as easy to win the lottery!!! and some just will not accept the danger as real...I guess when we see a critical mass of deaths vs injuries then maybe the tide will really turn

Thank God, I do not give in peer pressure. When there's a huge amount it, I am even more skeptical. Covid was fear porn. Many people are addicted to the fear but some have shaken it off and are standing firm in no fear. Keep your hearts and your mind…use critical thinking in all decisions.

The excellent UK Column News showed a short clip of Johnson who used the word Booster as in "get your booster" over a dozen times. It was sickening. Pharma has brainwashed the useless non medical people who are running the UK as well as the UK citizens themselves. At least Moderna is having to destroy 30 Million doses of their poison. More plastic for the bottom of the oceans ?

That is a very good question. My guess is that it was peer pressure along with a feeling of 'doing good'. There is far less outright 'vaccine' coercion in the UK than in the US. Thanks to protest, the UK abandoned compulsory vaccination in the 1940s or 1950s.

Meanwhile, the US still has as case law the Jacobson v. Massachusetts (1905) case in the Supreme Court, which legalized Nazi-level medical tyranny as long as its done by the individual states (rather than the federal government).

The case was then used in Buck v. Bell (1927) to legalize forced sterilization, a plank of the eugenics movement. That case and the state eugenics laws that it upheld were cited by Hitler et al. as models for the Nazi eugenics laws. The Nazis massive evil, and their losing the war, led to the Nuremberg trials and the Nuremberg Code. But US law pretends that none of it ever happened and is still in the eugenocidal era (where the sociopaths in charge want to keep it).

Fear and propaganda. Don't blame the victim. When shoveled to you 24/7/365 even intelligent people get over whelmed. Many of my friends and family took it to and I don't judge, just like I expect them not to judge my decision not to. Biggest problem is most of them just don't really look at all the data but truly think they are doing the right thing. I just hope for the best for them but fear some won't live long lives. Very sad world we have right now.

Has he said anything about the virus being a hoax? CV 19 was never isolated by Koch's Postulates and proven to exist. In fact, not a single so-called "virus" has ever passed this gold standard of pathogen testing--viruses do not exist--all tests (PCR) are fake. I no longer believe in germ theory--terrain theory is correct, and there's no such thing as contagion--it's never been proven.

It's so horrible that a young man who did not want to take this vaccine was duped into taking it by default because it was the only one available. When will this Nazi experiment end?? The young couple even said they weren't given any information about the vaccine or its side effects. So very sad he didn't go with his gut and walk away when they told him other vaccines weren't available.There is no way any monetary compensation can ever make up for the loss of your Son.

Viruses as such do not exist--none have been isolated by Koch's Postulates (1890) and proven to exist. Vaccines can cause any symptoms including skin eruptions as can other chemicals.

Dr. Kaufman proves that CV 19 has not been isolated, tells why Koch's has to be done and goes through the isolation studies. Vital info--35 min.

Depopulation is most likely, the MAIN objective of these vaccines. That is Bill AND Melinda Gates Foundation and Fauci's dream: To wipe out as much population as possible in a way "No one would suspect". And lie, lie,lie about it. There never was a pandemic. Just a game plan. And so many millions fell for it, because they watch corrupt, leftist mainstream news, who propagated mass fear into weak, not critical thinking minds. Psychological Warfare has and IS being carried out. To this very day!!
